PART B

6. a) List the common types of primary headache.
b) Outline the management of acute attacks and prophylaxis.

7. A 55 year old truck driver was diagnosed to have diabetes mellitus recently. His BMI is 31. His BP reading were 154/94mmHg on repeated occasions:
   a) List the investigations you would ask for this patient.
   b) What advice will you give him about diet and lifestyle?
   c) What medications will you start him on?
   d) List the complications of diabetes mellitus.

8. Describe the complications of obesity.

10. Describe how you will manage a patient with significant weight loss by discussing history, physical examination and investigations.

***************************************************************************