

FAMILY MEDICINE

PAPER –I

FLM/J/13/08/I

Time : 3 hours

Max. Marks : 100

Attempt all questions in order.

Each question carries 10 marks.

1. Enumerate the causes of acute viral hepatitis. Briefly describe biochemical and serological tests for it. How will you manage acute viral hepatitis? What measures should be taken for its prevention? 1+3+3+3
2. Define anaphylaxis. Enumerate various causes of anaphylaxis. Which is the most useful drug for its management? Describe the steps of management of anaphylaxis. 2+4+1+3
3. Describe primary and secondary skin lesions. Discuss the various diagnostic techniques for skin disorders. (3+3)+4
4. Describe the risk factors, lab investigations, differential diagnosis and management of stroke. Briefly describe stroke control programme. (2+2+2+2)+2
5. What are the common health problems faced by older people? Can life style modification prevent them? Explain. What are the other preventive steps to be taken to modify these problems. 3+3+4
6. Briefly describe the epidemiology of tuberculosis in our country. What is RNTCP? How does it differ from earlier programme on TB? Discuss briefly about DOTS-Plus. 4+1+2+3
7. What is dementia? What are the common causes of dementia? What are the clinical presentations of dementia? What are the management strategies to prevent and treat it? 2+2+2+4
8. Describe the clinical picture, diagnosis and treatment of rabies in man. How human rabies can be prevented? (2+2+2)+4
9. What is food poisoning? Describe briefly various types of food poisoning. Discuss its differential diagnosis. How will you investigate food poisoning? 1+3+2+4
10. What is ESRD (End stage renal disease)? How you will grade ESRD? Discuss the health education programme to prevent chronic renal disease. 2+3+5
