MESSAGE

Dear Esteemed Doctors,

As we celebrate the culmination of your arduous journey and the beginning of a new chapter in your lives, we extend our warmest congratulations to each and every one of you on the auspicious day of 22nd Convocation of the National Board of Examinations in Medical Sciences on the 10th May, 2024. Your dedication, sacrifice, and unwavering commitment to the field of medicine have brought you to this momentous occasion.

Over the years, you have worked diligently, sacrificing sleep and leisure in the noble quest of knowledge and cure. Despite the obstacles you encountered, you triumphed, standing up as beacons of hope in the face of adversity.

As you receive your degrees today, remember that this is not just a personal achievement but a testament to your invaluable contributions to our medical community. Your presence strengthens our collective resolve to provide quality healthcare to all.

Looking ahead, let this convocation serve as a reminder of the responsibilities that lie ahead. As you embark on your professional journey, never lose sight of the impact you can have on society. Embrace humility, remain committed to lifelong learning, and strive to be not just good doctors but also exemplary teachers and leaders.

I also want to congratulate the parents and teachers who have supported these students during their journey. Convocation Day signifies the end of one journey and the start of a new one. I hope that on this new adventure, you will flourish in your career and as a medical professional who will strive for honesty and integrity. May you all bring honor and credit to the nation.

As you step into this new phase of your career, may you continue to serve with determination, compassion, and integrity. Your success is not just a personal triumph but a beacon of hope for the countless lives you will touch in the years to come.

Congratulations once again, and may you shine brightly in all your future endeavours.

Warm regards,

Abhijat Sheth
