Message

I am pleased to learn that National Board of Examination (NBE) is holding its 20th Convocation on 24th December, 2019 at New Delhi.

It is immensely satisfying to know that on the day, young physicians would receive recognition to practice as specialists in different disciplines of medical sciences and serve those in need. With this, the country's healthcare resource would be strengthened and the health of the citizens would be secured through young, energetic, knowledgeable and safe hands. This event is a celebration of the hard work, commitment and passion these young minds have put in towards the noble profession of medicine.

I understand that during the convocation meritorious students shall be rewarded for their outstanding academic performance and others will be honored for their outstanding services in medical education and healthcare. I congratulate all those graduating as well as their families, their teachers, their institutions and the National Board of Examination for this day.
